CARTE POSTALE

By Appointment.

The Pass of Cattle, Ben Venue. Beallach-nam-bo (the Pass of the Cattle), is so called from the fact that the "caterans" or cattle-drivers are supposed to have used it as a pass through which to drive their stolen flocks and herds. It is shown in the picture strewn with boulders and here and there a stunted tree; the purple of the heather contrasted with the purple of the hills.
